Czech Film Fund

The Czech Film Fund is a state institution supporting all stages of film production, as well as promotion, distribution and other film-related areas. Approximately 14.5 million euro goes into this selective support each year. The Fund also administers production incentives for audiovisual projects made in the Czech Republic. The annual budget for this cash rebate of 20% has been increased to 57 million euro. In 2022, the CFF began preparing its transformation into the Czech Audiovisual Fund which will be able to widen its scope of support to include also small-screen formats, a booming area of Czech audiovisual production with great potential to reach younger audiences.

Cinemas

For the first time since the start of the pandemic, the Czech cinemas didn't have to close throughout the whole year, unfortunately the cinema attendance is still far from the record-breaking numbers of 2019. Still, the numbers are getting better each year, while in 2021 the attendance was at 39% compared to 2019, in 2022 it reached 74%. Popularity of Czech films with local audience certainly contributes, as 37% of all admissions in 2022 went to domestic films.

New Czech releases

In 2022, the film distribution experienced an unprecedented rise in number of new domestic releases. Almost one hundred new Czech fiction, animated and documentary films have been seen by approximately 4.5 million people. Half of the newly released Czech films received CFF support for production and 1.7 million people went to see them in Czech cinemas. Though the numbers are unlikely to remain this high in following years, the diversity in genres will hopefully remain the same.
